A great deal of effort has been expended in preparing this handbook, in order to ensure that its content is complete and accurate. However, changes and alterations to the information are possible. The IDC Herzliya Academic Authorities may cancel, alter or add courses and/or specialization programs, and generate changes in the times of lectures or in the assigned lecturer. When such changes occur, they will be published over the course of the year by various means, such as the online handbook on the IDC Herzliya website, and will apply to all IDC Herzliya students, including students of the Raphael Recanati International School, unless specified otherwise.

Introduction to the Program

The international program of the Lauder School of Government, Diplomacy and Strategy offers specializations in five areas:

- Global Affairs & Conflict Resolution
- Counter-Terrorism & Homeland Security
- Middle East
- Public Diplomacy
- Business Administration (subject to certain qualifications)

Students are required to a total of 120 credits to complete the B.A. degree, as follows*:

One Specialization

1st year – required courses
 2nd year – required courses
 General/Government electives – 8 credits
 Specialization electives – 10 credits
 Specialization seminar – 3 credits
 Additional seminar – 3 credits
 Government electives – remaining credits for the completion of 120 total credits.

Two Specializations

1st year – required courses
 2nd year – required courses
 General/Government electives – 8 credits
 2 Specialization electives – 20 credits
 2 Specialization seminars – 6 credits
 Government electives – remaining credits for the completion of 120 total credits.

Specializations and Electives

Students taking one specialization

- The specialization consists of 16 credits (10 credits of specialization courses + 1 specialization seminar + 1 additional seminar from another specialization). In addition, students taking one specialization are required to take 22 Government elective credits (courses from all specializations and additional elective courses, may be considered as Government electives).

* Students who are required to take English for Government (Advanced English 1 & Advanced English 2) for one year are required to take 16 credits of Government electives instead of 22.

Students taking two specializations

- The specializations consist of 26 credits (10 credits of specialization electives for each specialization + 1 seminar for each specialization). In addition, students taking two specializations are required to take 12 credits of Government electives (courses from all specializations and additional elective courses).

* Students who are required to take English for Government for one year (Advanced English 1 & Advanced English 2) are required to take 6 credits of Government electives instead of 12.

A personal examinations schedule for each student appears on the Student's information website (My IDC).

⁶ A select number of third year students may participate in an internship chosen from a list of organizations (NGOs) or institutions. The internship will involve a minimum of six hours per week and submission of an academic paper relevant to the internship experience. Two credits will be awarded for a successful completion of the internship. These 2 credits may be used in lieu of one government elective course. Details about the internships and registration information are available through the Assistant RRIS Government Academic Director, Mr. Ori Barzel (ori.barzel@idc.ac.il).

Argov Fellows Program in Leadership & Diplomacy

The Argov Fellows Program in Leadership and Diplomacy is part of the Lauder School of Government, Diplomacy and Strategy, but is accepting students from all IDC schools.

Building on the legacy of former Israeli Ambassador Shlomo Argov z"l, the Argov Fellows Program in Leadership and Diplomacy seeks to prepare around 20 exceptional IDC students in their final year of undergraduate studies for future leadership positions for Israel and the Jewish people. Through a year-long, challenging interdisciplinary curriculum, the program seeks to help the students acquire the knowledge, tools, skills and critical thinking abilities necessary for working towards meeting the many challenges that Israel faces in today's complex global environment.

The program, conducted entirely in English, combines academic training and practical skills. Its unique curriculum includes courses, seminars and "hands-on" workshops taught exclusively to Argov Fellows by leading academic and professional experts. The students participate in study tours to Europe, the United States and within Israel. Throughout the year, the students meet exceptional individuals who have obtained leadership positions in a wide range of fields and benefit from in-depth discussions with them regarding their values, career paths, and defining moments.

The program concludes with the public presentation of capstone group projects in which the fellows propose their solutions to pressing problems that Israel faces. Argov Alumni have carried on to eminent fellowship programs such as Koret, Fulbright and Legacy Heritage, graduate programs at Yale, Georgetown University, Oxford, and the London School of Economics and employment positions in public, private, and non-profit sectors.
