The Interdisciplinary Center (IDC) Herzliya pays tribute to

JUDY & AVI TIOMKIN

Judy and Avi Tiomkin are Israeli philanthropists who have worked for many years towards the advancement of Israeli society and the Israeli economy. Avi Tiomkin holds a LLB in law and is a financial analyst and international hedge fund adviser. Judy Tiomkin holds a BA in arts history and worked as a home interior designer. The couple, who divide their time between the United States and Israel, first met when both were students at Tel Aviv University, and married in 1975. Since 2015, Tiomkin School of Economics at IDC Herzliya has borne their name.

Avi Tiomkin was born in Tel Aviv and studied at Alef high school Tel Aviv. During his military service, he served as an officer in the Golani Brigade. Later he joined the family business and managed his father’s electric appliances store. At the same time, he began investing in the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange and in companies he issued in Israel and the U.S. In 1986, he successfully led the first leveraged buyout in Israel.

Tiomkin devoted most of his time to the study of the global economy and markets with an emphasis on future trends. In 1988, he moved the center of his activities to New York, and since then managed finances and advised the world’s leading hedge funds, with an accumulated value of $50 billion. In addition, for the past 20 years he has advised prime ministers and finance ministers in Israel and worldwide. Among his economic predictions are Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of predictions is Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of predictions is Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of relations between the world of politics and economics, he succeeded in building a strong network and gained access to the highest levels of influence and decision-making in the private and public sectors around the world. Among the highlights of his career is advising the then Israeli Prime Minister, Ehud Barak, on economic policy in the early 1990s, as well as advising governments and heads of state in the Middle East and beyond. In recognition of his philanthropic and social activities in Israel, as well as his long standing friendship with IDC Herzliya and their important contribution to economic studies at IDC Herzliya through Tiomkin School of Economics, Judy and Avi Tiomkin are hereby named Honorary Fellows of the Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya.

Prof. Uriel Reichman
President and Founder

June 2nd, 2016
Herzliya, Israel

The Interdisciplinary Center (IDC) Herzliya pays tribute to

JUDY & AVI TIOMKIN

Judy and Avi Tiomkin are Israeli philanthropists who have worked for many years towards the advancement of Israeli society and the Israeli economy. Avi Tiomkin holds a LLB in law and is a financial analyst and international hedge fund adviser. Judy Tiomkin holds a BA in arts history and worked as a home interior designer. The couple, who divide their time between the United States and Israel, first met when both were students at Tel Aviv University, and married in 1975. Since 2015, Tiomkin School of Economics at IDC Herzliya has borne their name.

Avi Tiomkin was born in Tel Aviv and studied at Alef high school Tel Aviv. During his military service, he served as an officer in the Golani Brigade. Later he joined the family business and managed his father’s electric appliances store. At the same time, he began investing in the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange and in companies he issued in Israel and the U.S. In 1986, he successfully led the first leveraged buyout in Israel.

Tiomkin devoted most of his time to the study of the global economy and markets with an emphasis on future trends. In 1988, he moved the center of his activities to New York, and since then managed finances and advised the world’s leading hedge funds, with an accumulated value of $50 billion. In addition, for the past 20 years he has advised prime ministers and finance ministers in Israel and worldwide. Among his economic predictions are Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of predictions is Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of relations between the world of politics and economics, he succeeded in building a strong network and gained access to the highest levels of influence and decision-making in the private and public sectors around the world. Among the highlights of his career is advising the then Israeli Prime Minister, Ehud Barak, on economic policy in the early 1990s, as well as advising governments and heads of state in the Middle East and beyond. In recognition of his philanthropic and social activities in Israel, as well as his long standing friendship with IDC Herzliya and their important contribution to economic studies at IDC Herzliya through Tiomkin School of Economics, Judy and Avi Tiomkin are hereby named Honorary Fellows of the Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya.

Prof. Uriel Reichman
President and Founder

June 2nd, 2016
Herzliya, Israel

The Interdisciplinary Center (IDC) Herzliya pays tribute to

JUDY & AVI TIOMKIN

Judy and Avi Tiomkin are Israeli philanthropists who have worked for many years towards the advancement of Israeli society and the Israeli economy. Avi Tiomkin holds a LLB in law and is a financial analyst and international hedge fund adviser. Judy Tiomkin holds a BA in arts history and worked as a home interior designer. The couple, who divide their time between the United States and Israel, first met when both were students at Tel Aviv University, and married in 1975. Since 2015, Tiomkin School of Economics at IDC Herzliya has borne their name.

Avi Tiomkin was born in Tel Aviv and studied at Alef high school Tel Aviv. During his military service, he served as an officer in the Golani Brigade. Later he joined the family business and managed his father’s electric appliances store. At the same time, he began investing in the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange and in companies he issued in Israel and the U.S. In 1986, he successfully led the first leveraged buyout in Israel.

Tiomkin devoted most of his time to the study of the global economy and markets with an emphasis on future trends. In 1988, he moved the center of his activities to New York, and since then managed finances and advised the world’s leading hedge funds, with an accumulated value of $50 billion. In addition, for the past 20 years he has advised prime ministers and finance ministers in Israel and worldwide. Among his economic predictions are Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of predictions is Israel’s 1983 bank shares crisis; the rapid global recovery after the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks; the 2008 financial crisis; the ongoing Eurozone crisis; and the political-economic events in Russia over the past two years. With his background of relations between the world of politics and economics, he succeeded in building a strong network and gained access to the highest levels of influence and decision-making in the private and public sectors around the world. Among the highlights of his career is advising the then Israeli Prime Minister, Ehud Barak, on economic policy in the early 1990s, as well as advising governments and heads of state in the Middle East and beyond. In recognition of his philanthropic and social activities in Israel, as well as his long standing friendship with IDC Herzliya and their important contribution to economic studies at IDC Herzliya through Tiomkin School of Economics, Judy and Avi Tiomkin are hereby named Honorary Fellows of the Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya.

Prof. Uriel Reichman
President and Founder

June 2nd, 2016
Herzliya, Israel